We let the Arizona State Legislature know that Arizona residents are serious about passing a California-type “End of Life Options, Right to Know” bill when we rallied at the capitol on January 29, 2009.

This year’s rally was held to support Senate Bill (SB) 1311, titled “End of Life Options, Right to Know” introduced by State Senator Linda Lopez.

For those of you who want to surf the web, the bill appears in its entirety is on our web page at www.choicesarizona.org. This year, no bills are to be heard in our legislature until the budget has been passed, so we’ll keep you informed on the outcome of the bill. For those of you who prefer to read hard copy, following are the highlights of SB 1311.

A. If a healthcare provider makes a diagnosis that a patient has a terminal illness, the healthcare provider, upon the patient’s request, shall provide the patient with comprehensive information and counseling regarding legal end of life care options. If a terminally ill patient is in a healthcare institution, the healthcare provider, or medical director of the healthcare institution, if the patient’s healthcare provider is not available, may refer the patient to a Hospice provider or private or public agencies and community-based organizations that specialize in end of life care case management and consultation to receive comprehensive information and counseling regarding legal end of life options.

B. If the patient indicates a desire to receive the information and counseling, the comprehensive information shall include, at a minimum, the following:

1. Hospice care at home or in a healthcare setting
2. A prognosis with and without the continuation of disease-targeted treatment
3. The patient’s right to refusal of or withdrawal from life-sustaining treatment
4. The patient’s right to continue to pursue disease-targeted treatment, with or without concurrent palliative care.

COMPASSION & CHOICES RELEASED THESE “SEVEN PRINCIPLES”

...designed to guide healthcare providers and policy-makers to place every patient’s personal values at the center of end of life care. These Seven Principles may be of assistance to lawmakers and policy experts in remembering what's important, i.e., the patient’s wishes and concerns. Compassion & Choices urges our healthcare system and its providers to put the patient first.

Seven Principles for Patient Centered End-of-Life Care

1. Focus. End of life care should focus on the patient's life and current experience.

2. Self-determination. Individuals vary in their tolerance for pain and suffering.

3. Autonomy. Decisions about end-of-life care begin and end with the autonomous patient.

4. Personal Beliefs. Patients should feel empowered to make decisions based on their own deeply held values and beliefs, without fear of moral condemnation or political interference.

5. Informed Consent. Patients must have comprehensive, candid information in order to make valid decisions and give informed consent.

6. Balance. Patients should feel empowered to make decisions based on their own assessment of the balance between quantity and quality of life.

7. Notice. Patients must have early, forthright and complete notice of health care providers' institutional or personal policies or beliefs that could impact their treatment wishes at the end of life.

WE RESPECTFULLY ASK FOR YOUR SUPPORT AT OUR 2010 RALLY AT THE CAPITOL

By Billie Stockl, President
Board of Directors
Compassion & Choices Arizona

In January 2010, Senator Linda Lopez will again be submitting a bill that she has championed for Compassion & Choices Arizona from 2004-2008, a bill for physician aid in dying.

Senator Lopez and Compassion & Choices AZ need your show of support by attending these annual rallies! With the make-up of the Arizona legislature, it will take time, but we will not give up our fight to have an Oregon-type bill made available to the residence of Arizona. As long as we will support her efforts, Senator Lopez will champion our cause.

If we give up, it will send a message to our legislature that they have won, and that we finally gave up. I, for one, will NOT give up. Like many of you who will read this, I was the caregiver to someone I loved dearly. I had to watch my husband suffer a horrible, painful death; for this reason, I will not give up.

Past rallies have been good, but in 2010, please support our cause by attending the rally. With our funds, we provide bus transportation to the capitol. In the past, we have limited our lease of bus transportation to two locations. If the ridership is great enough, we will add additional locations.

We need to show our legislature that we are large in number, we are determined and we will NOT give up until we have an Oregon-type physician aid in dying law for the citizens of Arizona!
WASHINGTON STATE LEGALIZES PHYSICIAN ASSISTED DEATH

As of Thursday March 5, terminally ill patients in Washington State can invoke the new physician assisted death law called the Death with Dignity Act.

Washington's new law, which allows them to ask for a lethal prescription from their doctor if they have less than six months to live, is based on a similar one introduced in Oregon eleven years ago.

Like the Oregon act, Washington's new law requires that any patient asking for a lethal prescription must be a resident of the state, be at least 18 years old, be declared mentally competent to make the request and have two doctors certify that he or she has six months or less to live, according to the Seattle Times.

The patient's request must be put into writing and witnessed by two people. They must also make two oral requests 15 days apart, the so-called "15 day waiting period".

Groups who support the initiative say that the new law gives people another option and helps them to feel in control of the dying process and thereby preserves their dignity.

Groups who are against the initiative say that the reporting requirements aren't strong enough and there should be stricter safeguards to make sure patients are offered enough end of life options, including pain management.

MONTANA DOCS RELUCTANT TO ASSIST IN PATIENT DEATHS

While a district court judge has ruled it is a right protected in the state constitution, life-ending treatment has proved elusive for some patients in Montana. But death with dignity advocates say that right is being frustrated by the unwillingness among doctors to be of assistance to patients in dying.

In December, District Judge Dorothy McCarter found that physician-assisted death is protected by the privacy provisions of the Montana State Constitution. With that ruling and no laws on the books in the state restricting physician-assisted death, Montana is considered to have the most liberal rights in regards to life-ending treatment.

The Montana Medical Association adopted a policy following the ruling that states the group "does not condone the deliberate act of precipitating the death of a patient."

"I hope that physicians have heard about the decision, but we don't actually know. My suspicion is that physicians either are not aware of the decision or are still feeling at risk."

Kathryn Tucker, Director of Legal Affairs for the National Organization of Compassion & Choices pinned the hesitancy for some doctors to authorize the medications on ignorance of the ruling, or fear.
A YOUNG VOICE SPEAKS OUT
by Christine Shall

I am a Social Work student at ASU West. One of my assignments this semester is to engage in an advocate activity regarding palliative care or other social justice issue related to death. I am a supporter of legislation SB1311 and I have chosen this issue for my activity.

In addition to writing (a) a letter to the editor (150-200 words) and (b) a communication to legislators, I will engage in advocacy through action, such as carrying a petition for an initiative and educating people about it or volunteering for a campaign.

I wanted to let you know about the website I made for the activity and that I have added a link to Compassion & Choices.

The more I learn about this issue the more I see how ridiculous our health system is, and how desperately it needs to change for the better. Thank God for you and people like you who dedicate their lives to this important cause.

We thank you, Christine, for your passionate support of our effort! Please join your local Chapter and tell your friends!

OPINION:

I Wonder WHY...
By Irene Weitzman, Northwest Valley
This short article is the result of my disappointment resulting from the turnout during the January 29 rally in Phoenix

Why didn’t you come to the rally at the House of Representatives building in Phoenix on January 29?

Why didn’t you come to support Senator Linda Lopez’s presentation of her bill, SB1311, “End of Life Options, Right to Know?” Why didn’t you come “en masse” to let the legislators know that we are serious and want that bill passed? A similar bill was even signed by the Republican Governor in California.

Was your absence the result of insufficient notice? Yet the newsletter mentioned the date well in advance, months even. Couldn’t you plan that trip another day? Get tickets, another day? Ask your relative if another day was possible? Did you legs hurt and you decided to stay home? Well some others came and sat holding their death with dignity balloons. Some brought their lawn chairs to sit upon, some came with walkers. Those with ability to walk...did you forget? Yet you were reminded by emails and telephone calls.

Assuming you support the mission of Compassion & Choices by paying your dues and contributions, did you feel that is enough? But the legislators don’t know that.

You will have another opportunity the third or fourth week of January, 2010 to support Senator Lopez and her two bills: a Physician Aid in Dying bill and End of Life Options, Right to Know. You have many months of advance notice, don’t miss this opportunity to show your support! Hope to see you there!

BOOK REVIEW

A Hastened Death by Self-Denial of Food and Drink
by Boudewijn Chabot, MD, PhD
(Amsterdam, 2008, 64 pages).
Reviewed by: David Brandt-Erichsen

This small book offers the most complete discussion to date on the subject of what in this country is generally called Voluntary Stopping of Eating and Drinking (VSED), and which the author refers to as Stopping Eating and Drinking (STED). Dr. Chabot studied 110 cases of VSED in the Netherlands and his book constitutes a practical guide to VSED for both patients and health care givers.

If water intake is stopped completely rather than tapered off, VSED takes about two weeks to result in death by dehydration, and death is almost certain within 16 days. The discomfort involved is generally mild but of course varies with individuals. Hunger usually disappears after a couple of days. After a week of fasting, metabolic byproducts generally cause a sense of well-being, even elation. Electrolyte imbalance (especially potassium loss) eventually results in cardiac arrest during sleep.

The bowels should be cleansed at the start of VSED to avoid gastric distress later on. The most important comfort measure is adequate mouth care. The mouth can be kept moist with small amounts of ice chips, sugar-free popsicles (called “ice lollys” in the book), gum (must be sugar-free), or saliva substitutes. The latter come in sprays, gels, or lozenges, but no brands are mentioned in the book (check www.dentist.net/drymouth.asp). The author recommends trying these first so you know what kind you would prefer to have on hand.

VSED itself generally does not require pain medication but the patient’s other health problems may require it for palliative care. Benzodiazepines (such as Valium) may be prescribed for anxiety if needed.

This book is highly recommended to anyone who wants to be ready in case you might wish to choose this option when your time comes. You won’t find this book at Borders or Amazon. The only way to order it is to send a check for $15 (includes shipping) payable to Hemlock Society of San Diego and send it to Faye Girsh, 7811 Eads Ave. #108, La Jolla, CA 92037
Compassion & Choices Arizona supports options for those who are terminally ill and mentally competent to determine their own life’s end, including freedom from unnecessary pain and suffering during the last part of life.

Please make sure we have the information about your Chapter events at least six weeks in advance to assure that your event gets good coverage on the website, in the newsletter and with the screaming yellow cards that we will prepare and mail to your constituency!
